

Blog Writer Application Task

WPMU DEV

CampusPress

Edublogs

So you want to become a WPMU DEV Technical Document Writer - why else would you be here?

The person we're in search of will have intimate knowledge of WordPress tied together with a dazzling bow of experience within Document writing.

This mini-task is designed to find out a little bit more about you, your writing style and how you think and approach day-to-day activities. No need to sweat, it's pretty simple.

Your completed task should be sent directly to us. You can either answer inline, or you can create a separate text file and number the answers. Good luck!

Be the hero we need, come join us in our mission at WPMU DEV!

Many thanks for your interest in writing for WPMU DEV!

We're looking for writers with experience in online publishing and who are able to wrangle WordPress as required.

Consequently, in order to demonstrate that you are comfortable with both these areas we'd like you to undertake a brief task that incorporates both of these.

Forminator Blog Post

Please install our free forms plugin, Forminator, on a WordPress site that you have access to.

Then please create a page that does the following in a unique way:

1. Introduces the plugin and lists a few reasons why it is a good option as a free WordPress form plugin.

2. Demonstrates your point with a live and functional form embedded within the page.

3. Explains how you built the form in a step-by-step fashion that would help the reader create a similar form.

And then share the page with us as part of your application.

Show us how well you can use and write about WordPress tools!

As mentioned above, this is a task essentially designed to demonstrate that you are able to use WordPress and can write clearly and well.

Also, it tends to filter out 90% of applicants who aren't keen enough (we like keen)...

Or haven't read this far. So good work on getting to this stage :)

Also, we promise that the job itself is a lot more interesting, creative, and full of challenges and opportunities than this task. And nailing this is basically a guarantee to move to the next stage.

Thank you for your time, we look forward to your submission!

Awesome, - now all you have to do is return the task and the team will be back in contact with an update, it's that simple! Good luck.